

Me in the Amazon Rainforest

This is me in a rainforest. As you can see it is multicoloured greens and a dark green river. It is a wet place because it rains most of the time.

I choose this picture because I think it would be very fun and dangerous to jump of a water fall this big! The water is fresh but I don't think it would be very nice to dink from. If you are wondering where I am I am in the Amazon Rainforest which is in South America. I can smell the some pretty bad smells of all the vegetation.

I can see an endless sea of green. I can touch an animal if it is close to me I can also touch the different plants around me like a fern. I think the best thing to do in a rain forest is swinging through the jungle on a vine I think I would be like Tarzan!
